

Health and Nutrition Policy

At Walmart de México y Centroamérica we are committed to nutrition. This policy reflects our commitment to providing safer, healthier, and affordable food and other products. We implement policies, standards, and practices to ensure the safety and quality of our assortment.

Likewise, we work together with our suppliers to offer healthy products and promote educational campaigns or programs for consumers, with the aim of helping them make purchasing decisions that benefit their health.

Therefore, Walmart de México y Centroamérica is committed to:

Offer Our Brands products with high added value that meet the needs of our customers.

Evaluate categories focused on offering items that adapt to the specific needs of our customers such as overweight, diabetes, celiac disease, or general care.

Offer 100% natural early feeding products and healthy baby food products.

Offer healthy and nutritious products that are gluten-free, sugar-free, organic, trans fat-free, or low in sodium.

Ensure transparency in nutritional content, encourage innovation and improve nutritional profiles through the reduction of sodium, fats, and sugar, among other aspects.

Promote to customers the importance of making conscious purchasing decisions that allow for healthy lifestyles.

Conduct responsible advertising for children's food products.

Promote health programs for our customers and associates.
